

Creepy Crawlies or Cute and Cuddlies ?

Come and explore the fascinating world of arachnids with Dr Robert Raven: spiders, scorpions, ticks and mites, among others

Dr Robert Raven has worked on spiders at the Queensland Museum for over 40 years, listening to challenging and exciting stories of people's experiences with spiders.

As a research scientist, he has named over 400 new species of spiders from Madagascar through south-east Asia, New Caledonia, South and Central America, but mostly from Australia.
